Summary: This is my idea of a rather amusing SPARTAN Creed; it's done by a young SPARTAN that has their own opinion of what a SPARTAN promise. Bad summary, but I can't do these things for the life of me.

**I LIVE! *crickets* Okay, okayâ€¦. I'm SORRY! I have this really big obstacle I'm trying to overcome; it's called LIFE! I'm still working on my KFP and Aladdin, those are NOT on hiatus. I am actually almost done with a rather long chapter for Kung Fu Panda, I just haven't posted it yet. Thank you to all my readers who have been so incredibly patient while I try to straighten my crazy writing muse. ****

**This came to me during school and it took me only 5 minutes to write out, so whether it's good or not is up to you.****

The SPARTAN Creed

I vow to serve the Federation and my commanding officers unless they become infected by the Flood.

I will exterminate the Flood and all rogue Covenant, Halo rings, and any benevolent mechanical beings who wish to destroy all organic life.

I will risk my life in the line of duty even if it means detonating a slip disk device or facing an entire planet of hostiles without any back-up.

I will listen to my AI most of the time, and when I don't I will apologize after she saves my hide.

I will become a good pilot and tank driver, getting my experience while out in the field.

I will make good use of my augmentations, upgrades and all enemy technology I find in combat, and I will be smart with where I throw my grenades.

I will become and even better Covenant vehicle driver.

I will become an expert with detonating Covenant bombs, and even better while in zeroG.

I will respect Master Chief and pray Cortana doesn't find out I was late for my shift because of thisâ€|

End Transmissionâ€|

"_Chief, I found something odd in the data filesâ€| Apparently someone has been hacking into the system and downloading materialâ€| I think I can get past the encryptionâ€|"_
